Their List Of Hearing Promises To Keep Them Very Busy For Some Time.

MANY QUESTIONS TO BE DECIDED

New Power To Hear And Adjust Complaints Of Public
Utilities Makes Their Labors Anything
But Easy.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Oct. 10.—Shippers of vast importance to shippers will be taken up for hearing the present month before the Wisconsin railroad rate commission, according to the October docket, announced yesterday. The most important matters have been investigated by the commission of its own motion without formal complaint being filed, including the rates charged for carrying milk and cream, the regulations enforced by the roads regarding the weighing of freight in carload lots, rates on pulp wood and similar material in Wisconsin.

The hearing of the complaint of the Valvoline Oil company of Madison is to develop the methods by which the Standard Oil company is able to drive out the small independent companies. This complaint is specifically directed against the high rates charged on oil shipped in barrels.

Speaker H. L. Ekern of the state assembly is complainant in a demand against the Green Bay & Western road for better passenger service on its trans-state line. The Chamber of Commerce of Milwaukee complains against the too short time allowed for the unloading of cars of grain. Green Bay citizens declare that the railroads favor Milwaukee shippers in freight rates. An important matter is involved in a demand of the Oaklough Logging Tool company for a refund of an alleged over-charge, being the first action under an act of the last legislature. The hearings, 28 in number, begin on October 15.

VARSITY STUDENTS GIVEN OPPORTUNITY

Four Arrested for Trouble in Hazing
Bee Released by Court This Morning.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Oct. 10.—The four university students who were arrested a week ago for alleged disorderly conduct in connection with a student hazing lock, were dismissed yesterday in the municipal court. City Attorney Aylward declared that two of the boys were unquestionably not guilty at all, and the other two could hardly be convicted with the evidence in the hands of the officers. The city attorney took occasion to severely criticize President Van Hise for "unlawful" methods of controlling lively students, such as seen in the recent freshman-sophomore rush, when upper classmen were supplied with clubs and told to "restrain the freshmen" from violence. A list of exonerations, including 13 injured students, resulted from this term of Van Hise regulation. City Attorney Aylward said that many members of the faculty and some regents had spoken with him in opposition to punishing a few students in the courts when the president of the university failed to exercise any adequate control.

BIG INTERNATIONAL DAIRY SHOW IS ON

Large Exhibition of Dairy Products of Country Opens at Chicago.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 10.—Thousands of dollars worth of bloomed stock from all parts of the United States and Canada is to be seen at the second International Dairy Show which opened at the stockyards amphitheater today. From every point of view the exhibition is the most notable affair of the kind ever given in this country and will attract the attention of farmers, stockmen and dairymen everywhere. The United States Department of Agriculture and the National Association of Dairy Inspectors and Investigators have given their active cooperation to the show.

The importance of sanitation in the manufacture and handling of dairy products from the time the milk comes from the cow until the finished article is placed in the hands of the consumer is illustrated at the show by the operation of dairy machinery. While the exhibits relate primarily to methods of handling dairy products and the proper breeding of cattle the show embraces also consideration of the improvement of all food and farm products. A number of conventions of dairy men, creamery men and dairy stock raisers will be held during the two weeks of the exhibition and another feature will be public addresses by noted dairy experts from leading agricultural colleges.

WATERWAYS PEOPLE BEGIN PLANNING FOR GATHERING

Expect Roosevelt's Trip Down The Mississippi
Will Have Much Influence Upon
The Attendance.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—President Roosevelt's journey down the historic Mississippi river, his noteworthy addresses at Keokuk, St. Louis and Memphis, and his hearty endorsement of waterway development undoubtedly have made a deep impression on the American people. That the trip will lead an impetus to consideration of the problem that is confronting the nation is beyond question. It will result without doubt in spurring the country into activity in providing for a system of transportation that will supplement the railroads, already overcrowded and incapable of handling the immense increase in traffic.

This activity will be given added impetus in December, just on the eve of the assembling of the National Congress by the annual convention of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress. Captain J. F. Ellison of Cincinnati, its secretary and treasurer, has just completed arrangements here for the meeting on Dec. 4, 5 and 6. The convention will be held in the great hall room of the New Willard hotel, which has been the scene of many important conventions and brilliant social events. It was found necessary to engage the largest hall in the District of Columbia because of the promised attendance, delegates from every

BRYAN TO WITHDRAW FROM RACE FOR THE NOMINATION

This Is Rumor Coming From Washington This Morning.—Will Be Here Next Month.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—Is William Jennings Bryan next month to declare himself out of the running for the nomination for president? This is a question that has agitated the democracy for the last week, ever since a significant letter was received here from the Nebraskaan. There is some reason to believe that Mr. Bryan has selected Washington as the most suitable place for such a declaration, and this fact holds up the rumor that he will not again be a candidate for the head of the democratic ticket.

During the last few weeks there has been a noticeable drift in sentiment in the South away from the Nebraskaan's standard. The Southern democracy is beginning to "feel its oats," and believes it is entitled to a

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 8.—With Reulbach and Kling at the points for Chicago the Cubs are this afternoon making circles around the unfortunate Tigers who hail from Detroit. Solver and Schmidt are the battery for the Detroiters. It looked after the fifth inning as though the Cubs had the Indian sign posted all over the American League who had failed to score up to that point. A banner crowd watched the contest and the din of cheering when Chicago made its runs. In the fourth was deafening. TRIMMING UP PARK

FOR NEXT SUMMER
Many Soft Maples Are Being Cut Out to Give Elms Chance to Develop.
Workmen are busy in the Court House park these days clearing out many of the fast dying soft maples so that the young elms which are being crowded to death by their big brothers, can have a chance to develop.
Already four trees have been taken out on the north side and one on the west and the men are today working on a glant on the south side. While the park will look strangely denuded of these big trees it will ultimately be much better as the elms will now have a chance to grow and the maples were nearly all partially hollowed by age and would have died shortly anyway. The flower beds and shrubs are to be properly cared for this winter so that next spring the park will be prattler than ever.

BROKEN DOWN;
COUNTY CHARGE;
TOOK HIS LIFE

JAMES DENTON, AGED SIXTY-FIVE DEAD AT COUNTY FARM.

ENDING OF SORRY CHAPTER

Once a Prosperous Painter—Deserted
by Wife, Has Lived Life of Reclus
—Dying From Cancer.

Another sorry chapter of a broken life was ended this morning between five and six when James Denton, aged sixty-five, an inmate of the county poor farm since August 30 last, jumped from the window of his room on the second story to the ground and was found a few moments later dead with a broken neck. Twenty years ago Denton was a resident of Janesville with a good trade and bright prospects. Today he lies dead at the county mortuary and unless his remains are claimed by friends or relatives, will be buried in the little cemetery at the county poor farm.

Deserted by Wife.
James Denton had been a resident of Janesville for thirty years. He is remembered as a young man of promising ability and industry. He was a painter by trade and worked for many years at the Hurst Bros. Wire Works and later branched out for himself and painted houses and barns.
He was married and had a comfortable home with prospects for a happy life and a comfortable old age. Some eighteen years ago, however, his wife found a man who cared for more than her husband and eloped with him, deserting the man she had sworn to love, honor and obey.

Never Heard From.
There were no children and people who remember the happening and the man Mrs. Denton left with William Perry, a farm hand near Milton, say that Denton was prematurely aged at the shock of finding his home broken, his wife gone. Neither Perry nor Mrs.
Denton have been heard from since.
Denton withdrew into his own privacy and shut out sympathy and continued his labors. For years he worked hard and lived by himself in the little brick house opposite the Howe Brothers factory on North River street.

Disease Came.
For some years past his health has not been strong. A cancer developed and last spring he was taken to the Morey Hospital where his left eye was removed in hopes of stopping the ravages of the disease. This was unsuccessful and while clearly in disposition, he was broken in health and did not oppose his being taken to the county farm to spend the last years of his life.

Roomed Alone.
Because of his disease he was given a little room alone on the second floor.
He was heard to be moaning. In the room this morning at five and fifteen minutes later his body, still warm but dead, was found on the ground outside by J. J. Callahan, the overseer. Evidently threat of life and dependent upon his illness he ended it all by a mad jump from the window of his room.

STUDENTS LISTENED

TO GOOD ADDRESSES

Superintendent Buell and Miss Flo-

Both Talked to High School Students.

Students at the high school yesterday enjoyed addresses from both Superintendent H. C. Buell and Miss Florence Fensham, former dean of the American College for Girls, Constantinople. Professor Buell gave his talk on the candidates for the 1908 election, which was both interesting and instructive to those who were fortunate enough to hear it.

Miss Fensham, who is visiting in the city, is now delivering a series of lectures at the Chicago Theological Seminary, formerly she was stationed in Constantinople having charge of the girls' college there. Miss Fensham described the great city of the Ottoman empire, told of the customs and manners and folkways of the famous many-sided Ottoman Turk very realistically. She is an able speaker and her address was enjoyed by all, the only criticism being it was too brief.

to pick from. Present indications are that it will be composed of a fast and heavy set of players. Among the former players who are taking much interest this year are the Misses Rich-

FIX PRICES OF

TOBACCO CROPS

WISCONSIN GROWERS ASSEM-BLED AT MADISON NAMED.

THE MINIMUM RATES

If Not Accepted They Will Sell Direct to the Manufacturers or Hold Their Crops.

At their meeting in Madison just closed, the American Society of Equity went on record as naming the prices they will accept for their crops of tobacco this year. Aside from this they elected H. E. Holmes of Milton President, James Hanson of Deerfield as vice president, H. D. Kump of Madison secretary and H. E. Pomeroy of 53-rd St. and Madison as treasurer.

The organization
which means to fight the tobacco monopoly will fix the prices on their own grounds, by organization, and if the buyers refuse to purchase at the new prices will pool their interests and deal directly with the manufacturers.

The scale
The scale adopted is:
Best crop in bundles, 15 cents a pound.

Medium crop, in bundles, 12 1/2 cents a pound.

Poor crop in bundles, including all except trash, 10 cents a pound.

These prices are the lowest the tobacco growers will accept. In case the tobacco is "sized and assorted" an advance of 2 cents on the minimum charge will be made. One hundred and fifty delegates were present, representing the 225 local societies of the tobacco section of the state.

Will Buck the Trust
Not only do they intend to stick to these prices and get money if they can, but if they are unable to dispose of a crop in this manner financial arrangements have been made with banks for obtaining money on the crop, and the society will withhold the product from the market until the tobacco trust pays what the families demand.

The enforcement of this rule is the result of long past abuses by the trust. The committee voted to build large sheds in case the crop now be stored, where the needed money be brought, assessed, advanced and paid.
This is what the society terms the "locking of the crop." The banks which have an arrangement will advance money on the crop and the insurance, as stated, if the society needs the money, and the sheds from the shed will be divided pro rata.

Organize All Counties
A plan was before the committee this morning for organizing in every county of the state in all tobacco growing districts of the state with a view of having them all become members of this organization.

Where there are only a few growers in one county, several counties may pool the crop together. The committee, consisting of H. E. Holmes of Milton and James E. Hanson of Deerfield, was applauded by the organization to gather interest on this year's crop so as to protect them.

Via Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul
Ry.

The National Corn Exposition will be held in the Coliseum at Chicago, October 5 to 19. It will be the largest exposition of its kind ever held and interesting to all, but particularly to corn growers and those in any way concerned in corn. Over $50,000 in prizes, pianos, bargains, dinner sets, watches, etc., will be given to exhibitors in the state classes, which are open to professionals. Over $15,000 in cash prizes alone will be given on ten and thirty-cent exhibits. A special prize of $1,000 will be given for the best 100 ears of corn shown at the exposition. Numerous other prizes will be awarded for other exhibits in connection with the growing of corn.

Numerous special attractions have been arranged for, such as the "March of Corn" and an old-fashioned husktune and dance. Something special will be going on all the time. Music in the afternoon and evening will be furnished by the Illinois Naval Ho-serve band.

SPEND FORTY THOUSAND DOLLARS FOR ADS OF ONE DAY

Over $40,000 for advertising in a single day.

That's the order that was recently placed with the daily newspapers of the United States by the Knowlton Bambridge company of Chicago.

The $40,000, or to be exact, $41,600,
was spent in one full page, one time,
in seven hundred and thirty-two newspapers scattered from Maine to California.

It was the largest one-time order ever placed by a single advertiser in the world.

This page appeared in the Gazette last Friday and came from the Charles H. Fuller Advertising company of Chicago. In speaking of this order Mr. Fuller says:

"Yes, this is the world's biggest one-time advertising order—and we can prove it."

"Naturally, it's a Chicago advertiser and a Chicago advertising agency that, as usual, breaks the world's commercial record. The plates sent to the 732 newspapers, from which the ad is printed, alone cost $2,000. The actual combined circulation of the papers used, I think, will approximate 10,000,000. Estimating five readers to a paper, this means that 50,000,000 people in the United States read the Bambridge page."

This is Really Too Bad.

the city only feels the cheapest.

FLOUR GOING TO BE

$1.75 THIS WINTER?

Advance in Wheat May Reach $1.25
A Bushel, Meaning Flour $1.75
—Butter Going Up Too.

What is going to happen to bread, the "staff of life" if flour goes up to $1.75 a sack? Will the loaves be made smaller to keep the price down to a nickel or will their size remain the same and the price go up? One of the two alternatives seems imminent.
If the present indications count for anything, flour today is hovering around the figure of $1.55 a sack and this is only October with the cold, cold winter still in the distance. The maximum price for flour last winter was $1.25 a sack, 30 cents higher than the present selling price to retail customers. Conservative financiers predict $1.25 wheat before spring which will mean $1.75 flour. Many local grocers have a good supply of flour on hand but it cannot be said that they have stocked up for the winter to evade the effect of the probable rise in price.
Traveling salesmen declare that most small dealers in the northwest have a surplus of flour or more on hand expecting the rise in price and have made their best efforts to escape getting caught.

Then along with bread goes its counterpart, butter, which has prospects of going to 40 cents a pound retail, before the spring flowers bloom again. Butter today was 30 1/2 cents a pound wholesale and 34 cents retail.
For the past few weeks the wholesale price has been advanced a half cent or a cent a week. Last winter the retail price of butter was about 25 cents not as much as the present price.
It is still cold weather in come. It is and still cold weather in come. It would like to see the butter trust busted," declared a local grocer today.

IT PAYS TO GET YOUR EYES OPEN.

"Dr. Richards, what will you charge to crown this tooth for me?" said a party to the Dentist the other day. She was from a neighboring city and evidently had her eyes wide open on dental prices.

"$5" was the reply. "All right; go ahead and fix it," said she. "They charge $10 in my town and here I can come to Jansville and have a whole day looking at the new fall styles in the stores, get my tooth fixed up and have enough money left to get me a new hat."

And she was right. If you choose Dr. Richards for your dentist you can save about HALF what you will have to pay if you go elsewhere.

Dr. Richards refuses to join a combine, an agreement or an understanding with other Dentists which will establish or maintain high prices.

SCHUMAKER ON WITNESS STAND

VICTIM OF TRAGEDY OF APRIL 18 WHEELED INTO COURT.

CREATES BIG SENSATION

Nerved Up For Ordeal He Faces Severe Examination of Over an Hour—May Frye Testifies For State.

Before the conclusion of the cross-examination of Florence Dugan yesterday afternoon, the prosecution elicited from her a statement that she did not intend to kill George Schumaker and that she was sorry that she shot him; also a denial that she had at any time since the tragedy made the remark that she was glad she shot him. City Marshal Appleby then took the stand and testified to the fact that the defendant had called on him at the city hall on the Monday evening preceding the affair, had told him that Schumaker had struck her and taken a dollar from her, and had expressed her wish that he might be arrested as he was going away on the train with another woman. A. C.

George Schumaker in Wheeled Chair in Court Room.

Thorpe, clerk of court, testified that the woman came to the office and inquired for Judge Phil, and made the statement that she wanted a warrant for the arrest of the man for assault and battery and stated that Schumaker had taken a watch and ring from her. City Attorney Maxwell, who was Miss Dugan's first attorney in the case, gave evidence that she called at his office in a very excited frame of mind and advised him regarding the possibility of having the man arrested for assault and battery. At this time she complained bitterly of his treatment of her, saying that he had repeatedly promised to marry her and had gotten nearly all of her savings amounting to about $150, besides her watch and rings. He gave it as his opinion that at this time she was somewhat unbalanced mentally and on the verge of hysteria. Philip Sheridan, who was employed at the Riverside hotel at the time, testified to her deep dejection and seeming indifference to the world about her, at the time, and said that two nights before the shooting he heard her say that she did not intend to have Schumaker beat her every time he wanted money. Witness did not believe she was right mentally at the time. Michael McKelvin, a boarder at the hotel, said that she always "looked kind of wild" to him and that at times her mind did not seem to be intent upon what she was doing and that she would bring in the wrong orders. Mrs. Mary Farrell, who manages a boarding house where the prisoner worked for a time, testified of her knowledge that Florence Dugan had given Schumaker money on several occasions, and to having heard her say that she did not care to live if she could not have him. Mrs. Mary Dugan, the mother of the defendant, testified that her daughter Florence was born about 1876; that she was a strange child; that on one occasion she waved a knife and threatened to take her life; and that another time she told of seeing ghosts.

Trial Resumed Today
John Seerling, employed at the Janesville Machine Co., plant at a boarder at the Riverside, was examined this morning. He said that on one occasion while the defendant was sick, she implored him to get some money for her that she might send it to Schumaker. He did not himself have the sum wanted but borrowed it of another. James Hemmings, proprietor of the hotel, testified that Florence Dugan was quieter than the other boarders in his employ and did not have much to say, but that if anyone said anything against Schumaker, she would fly into a temper and stand up for him. He was asked by the prosecution if a girl named May Dickens was in his employ about the last of March and first of April and said that she was.

A Sheaf of Begging Letters
Atty. T. S. Nolan yesterday had entered on exhibit a sheaf of over fifty letters written by George Schumaker to Florence Dugan during the years 1905 and 1906 from Watertown, Jefferson, Milwaukee, and other points. This morning he read them to the court. They were a strange variety of love letters, some begging, some threatening, some reproachful—but all having for their central theme an insatiable demand for money. "Say, kid, send me $2"—"Sweetheart, send me $1 at once"—"Do sure and send four dollars if you know what's good for you"—"Send $2 and I'll forgive you"—these were the petitions and commands that ran all through the missives. At one time the writer wanted $2 to "pay the union," at another time he needed it to pay board or come to Janesville. His threats were sometimes coupled with oaths. Most of the allusions were brief and usually devoted little time to preliminaries before coming to the point—which was invariably an urgent need of cash.

Physician on Stand
Dr. John Hood of Delavan, formerly a practicing physician at Darke, took the stand and stated that he had known Florence Dugan from 12 to 17 years and had attended the family. From what he had observed he was disposed to say that the prisoner's mental condition was rather weak and below the average. He testified to the effect of a certain disorder with which she was afflicted, stating that it made the patient irritable and nervous for the time being. He thought that the functions of the brain might be perverted somewhat at such times but drew a sharp distinction between insanity, which he characterized as a disease, and hysteria, which he said was little more than irritation. In answer to questions from the prosecution he said that her intellect was normal so far as he had observed; that the hysterical condition alluded to was common to all afflicted with the disorder; that pain reacts on the brain to make the patient irritable and that was his only effect on the mentality; that he had seen the woman in this case show a quick-tempered disposition.

Statement of Prosecution
After Dr. Hood's testimony was completed, the state rested. District Attorney J. L. Fisher then made his statement to the jury, outlining what the state would attempt to prove. Evidence would be produced to show, he said, that the conduct of the woman before and after the shooting was that of a normal person; that she was actuated simply by a desire to get even, a craving for revenge; that she was not suffering with any form of insanity and was perfectly able to distinguish right and wrong; that she was not a pure woman before she came in contact with Schumaker; that she threatened to kill him on many different occasions; that at the time their relations began she knew he was a married man; that their relations began in August or September, 1905, and that he was not divorced from his wife (Ill. Sept. 19, 1905); that on two occasions Schumaker took her away from her; that while he was still married the defendant threatened to kill him; that the defendant did not secure the gun which was used in shooting him after the quarrel on the Monday night preceding but on the Saturday before; that she asked her claim (May Frye) to send a gun for her and stated that she had made up her mind to kill Schumaker; that he never made any such remark as "Go to it" and "Peck away" when she accosted him on Academy street on the night of April 18; that on her way to jail she exclaimed: "I told him I warned him" and that since being confined she had said that she was glad she shot him.

Gerald Hall Testifies
Gerald Hall, a young man who was employed at the C. & N. W. roundhouse and who was waiting on May Frye shortly prior to the tragedy, was called to the stand. He stated that through Miss Frye, Florence Dugan sought an interview with him and asked him to get her a revolver and to load it; that he had a .32 caliber Red Jacket which had been repaired; that he loaded it with 11 M. C. shells and let her have it; and that the transaction occurred on the Saturday preceding the tragedy.

May Frye on Stand.
May (Dickens) Frye who has been at the Girls' Industrial School at Milwaukee since May 11, testified that she became intimate with Florence Dugan while they were doing chamber work at the Riverside hotel; that the latter confided in her and told her that she and Schumaker had been married but that the latter had torn up the marriage certificate and drank up all her money and she had left him to work alone. Asked why she did not get a divorce she had said that she'd rather get even and that she would shoot him if she had a chance. When the prisoner asked her where she could get a revolver the latter thought of Gerald Hall and spoke of his having one. While peeking out the window one night she had seen a short man in an overcoat and cap near Florence near the door, put his arm around her and kiss her. Attorney Nolan asked if it was not Miss Dugan's brother-in-law, Conroy, and asked the latter to stand up, but the witness smilingly declared that he was not the person. Witness did not think at the time that she would have nerve enough to shoot Schumaker and thought no more about the incident of her asking for and getting a revolver. Witness admitted that she was sent to the industrial school for running away with a man and taking property that did not belong to her, but denied Attorney Nolan's suggestion that she had been brought here to testify against her former claim to promise that something would be done to get her out of captivity. At the fall, where she visited the prisoner on one or two occasions, she said that Florence Dugan said that she didn't remember about firing the second shot but that she was glad she had done the deed.

Schumaker Brought Into Court
At two o'clock this afternoon George Schumaker was brought to the city hall in Russell's ambulance and wheeled into the courtroom in an invalid's chair. Four hundred people were crowded into the spectators' gallery and the appearance of the victim of the tragedy, emaciated and only a shadow of his former self but wearing, nevertheless, a neat and well-formulated look on his pallid features, created a profound sensation. Jurymen leaned forward with intent gaze and the whole court-room became suddenly so still that one might have heard a pin drop. This was not for long. The complaining witness was wheeled up to the witness stand and began replying to questions in a firm and even tone. He said that he was 29 years of age and answered the other perfunctory questions. His first intimacy with the defendant, he said, began when the party of four went to Delavan and spent most of the night in a wine-room. Prior to this he had told her that he was a married man and had elicited from her the information that she had been improperly intimate with other men. The name of one he mentioned. He denied ever having promised to marry her; said that she followed him and gave him money to buy drinks and buy livery rigs. He denied beating or striking her and said that on the Monday night before the tragedy he had thrown her on the bed to prevent her from locking the door and keeping him in the room. The money she had sent him at Watertown and Jefferson was to pay his railroad fare here and this was according to a prearranged understanding. It being the only reason he kept up relations of which, according to the information, he had wearied. Attorney Nolan subjected Schumaker to a severe cross-examination but he stood the ordeal—lasting over an hour—well.

DOUBLE SIZE OF CANNING FACTORY

HOHENADEL FACTORY TO BE ENLARGED IN CAPACITY NEXT YEAR.

ADDITION MADE TO CAN PEAS

Automatic Cooker to be Installed Besides Two Additions For Canning of Peas.

After doubling its building and working capacity the Peter Hohenadel, Jr., canning company will commence the canning of peas next year, thus entering a new field of work. Over 1,200 acres of land in this vicinity have already been leased for next year for the pea crop and before the time to commence canning begins two additions to the present plant will have been made. The present number of employees, 120 will be doubled next year. An addition of 100 feet will be built for the pea factory room. This building will be two stories high and besides it another addition will be made 20x60 feet. This second addition will be used for the thrashing of the peas. This process is done with a patented machine invented by a man named Chisholm, of New York. The thrashing machines are loaned and not sold to canning factories wishing to use them. The peas are husked from the vines and hulled from the pods by the thrasher. The machines are rented on a royalty basis, the charge being three cents on every dozen cans, the peas being measured by weight so if they are heavy the company renting the machines is the loser in the agreement. A representative of Mr. Chisholm, who has made himself a millionaire on this patent, accompanies the machines and the books of the canning factory using the thrashers are open to inspection each day.

Another great improvement that will be made at the Hohenadel factory next year will be a new cooker invented and patented by Mr. Hohenadel himself. This cooker is 80 feet in length and works automatically. The cans are placed in the cooker and they are rolled through and back again without the touching of a lever. This new cooker will reduce the time to cook the canned goods from 65 minutes to 40 minutes. The six reports now used at the factory will be dispensed with next year and the automatic cooker will be installed to do the work. Mr. Hohenadel worked over two years on the perfection of this cooker and spent several thousand dollars. He got the idea in placing a black pea in the center of a jar of light colored peas and then turning the jar around. He found that after 15 revolutions the black pea would be on the outside next to the jar. From this experiment he deduced the theory that by revolving a can filled with vegetables all the particles will come to the surface at equal intervals. The new cooker is a great improvement over the rotators, leaving the vegetable in a much better condition. Mr. Hohenadel installed the pea canning plant at his (tochelle, Ill., factory this spring where 75,000 cases were turned out this year, or 150,000 dozen cans. The crop was poor in that section of the country this year but the results are satisfactory to the management. A larger number of cases will be put out at the local factory next year than was put out in June next year when the pea crop will be canned. The canning company will plant the crop next spring using four bushels of seed to the acre and an eight hole drill planter to put them in the ground. The crop will need practically no cultivation and can be raised at a small expense.

Construction work on the new additions to the factory will not be started until next spring. The labor of putting up this year's crop will prevent a beginning at the construction this fall. The corn and peck crops have been put up and work on the pea canning has just been started. The pack this year will be about half that of last year. The peckle and corn crops were short but the pea crop will be about average. The quality this year is good and prices are high, which factors in the market will partly offset the shortage of the pack. Corn this year is selling at 75 cents a dozen cans which last year sold for 60 cents wholesale in the carload.

C. H. Roberts, for several years associated with Grafton Johnson, of Indiana, one of the largest vegetable packers in the country, is superintendent of the local factory this year. He has had many years experience in the business and entered the employ of Mr. Hohenadel this last June.

"STATE BANKS"

In Wisconsin are safer than National Banks" is a statement made by a former deputy state bank examiner of Wisconsin. His reason for this statement is that more time and care are given to the examination of state banks. The state bank examiners are paid salaries, while the national bank examiners get so much for their examination, so the latter naturally try to get through their work as quickly as possible, while the state examiners take all the time needed for a thorough examination. The deputy examiner also states, "The Wisconsin banking laws, in my opinion, are the best of any state in the union."

We are a Wisconsin state bank and we are confident that with our ample resources and superior facilities we can offer you safe and convenient banking accommodations.

We invite you to call.

SEND SUSPECT FROM BELOIT UP TO JAIL

Man Believed to Know Something About Mysterious Fire in Jail Here.

Believing Ed Darby, a local character in Beloit for the past twenty years, can furnish a clue to the fire-bug who has started eight incendiary blazes here within the past few weeks, the police have succeeded in sending him to the county jail for twenty days. Darby was arrested while asking alms on East Grand avenue. The charge of drunk and disorderly was preferred against him and he received the sentence from Judge C. D. Rook. Darby has always given the police much trouble, being lawless when in his cups. If no more incendiary fires occur within the next twenty days Darby will be put in the sweatbox. Means, who is the police and chief constable, appointed by State Fire Marshal Purcell as a deputy, are searching for other clues. Darby's last offense of any account was committed two years ago. He secured a horse from a livery barn and kept it a week. His trial was held at Janesville and a jail sentence was meted out to him.

CAPITAL AND SURPLUS

There is a difference between Capital and Surplus. The national banking law provides that the stockholders in a National bank shall be liable for twice the amount of their stock. No such liability attaches to surplus. It therefore follows that the same amount of money is twice as valuable to the depositor in the capital account as in the surplus. This also explains the provision of the law which makes it obligatory for a National bank in a town of this size to have a capital of one hundred thousand dollars, and to immediately accumulate a surplus of twenty per cent of its capital. A Good Cusser.

San Antonio Express: "I have often interviewed John D. Rockefeller during a game of golf," said a New York reporter, "and a milder tempered golfer I have seldom seen. No matter what hard luck he plays in, Mr. Rockefeller never loses his equanimity."

"He told me one day that he despised a golfer who got angry and profane on the links. He said he knew a broker of that abominable type."

"The broker, on a sunny autumn afternoon, set out to play nine holes. Looking back after he had driven off he saw a great crowd following. There were young men and old, good players and bad, all trailing close behind with looks of interest and expectation."

"The broker paused and turned. He smiled politely and nervously."

"Really, gentlemen," he said, "this is very flattering. I hope I am in good form this afternoon. I trust I shall play well enough to reward all this kindly interest."

"An elderly lawyer laughed. "Oh, it isn't that," he said. "We came out to listen."

DOES YOUR HAIR LOOK LIKE THIS?

If not, it is your own fault, for we pay to you positively that we can grow you such hair as this on any head with

E. BURNHAM'S Hair and Scalp Tonic

We have had years of opportunity to study "growth of hair" in our Chicago establishment, where we treat more heads of hair than any other establishment in the world, and E. Burnham's Hair and Scalp Tonic is the result of years of study and experiment.

E. Burnham has found the cause and cure for baldness, dandruff, and other scalp infections. The scalp being one of the weakest parts of the cranium, the blood becomes sluggish and the follicles or the roots of the hair become impaired and diseased from want of nourishment.

E. Burnham's Hair and Scalp Tonic overcomes this by feeding and strengthening the hair follicles, puts the scalp in a healthy and normal condition, gives the hair new life, stops it from falling out, cures dandruff and other scalp infections.

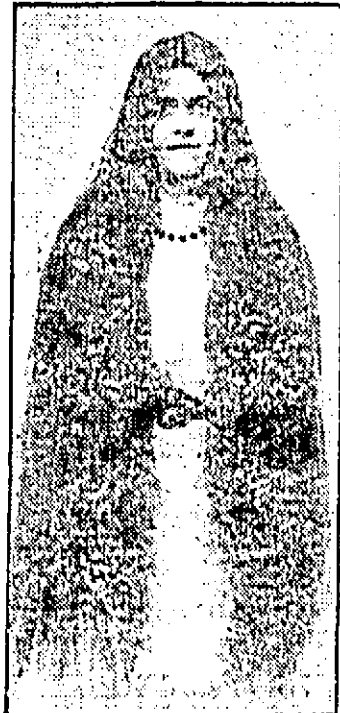

TO CONVINCE YOU THAT THIS PREPARATION WILL DO ALL WE CLAIM FOR IT, WE WILL SEND A GOOD SIZED SAMPLE BOTTLE, INCLUDING A BOTTLE OF CUCUMBER CREAM, UPON RECEIPT OF 10 CENTS TO COVER COST OF MAILING.

state in the Union having already elected their intention of being present.

The convention will be one of the most important of its kind ever held in the United States. Invitations to address the delegates have been issued to members of the cabinet, leaders on the floor of the senate and house, governors of many states and men prominent in business life, and already acceptances are beginning to come in. There will be almost as many notable present as are to be found at a national political convention.

The meeting will be the fourth annual of the organization. Waterways people of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress has worked to arouse the public to the necessity for developing the waterways of the United States. Several years ago it forewarned the congestion of freight traffic that last winter practically isolated the northwest and left scores of communities to freeze because of the lack of cars to carry coal to them. At that time the prophecy was scooped. Today the public is awakening to the need for more means of communication, and especially for a system of transportation that will relieve the railroads of the heavier classes of freight.

In his speech at Keokuk President Roosevelt spoke plainly and emphatically of his interest in and endorsement of the cause for which the organization is working. In discussing the matter of improving the rivers, he said:

"I feel that we cannot have too many railroads, and that in addition to the iron highways of our midday system we should have a waterway system of great rivers which have been given us by nature. From a variety of causes these highways in many parts of the country have been almost abandoned. This is not healthy. Our people, and especially the representatives of the people in the National Congress, should give their most careful attention to this subject. We should be prepared to put the nation collectively back of the movement to improve them for the nation's use. Our knowledge at this time is not such as to permit me to go into details, or to say definitely just what the nation should do; but most assuredly our great navigable rivers are national assets. Just as much as our great seacoast harbors should be fitted to receive in safety the largest vessels of the merchant fleet of the world, so by deepening and otherwise our rivers should be fitted to bear their part in the movement of our merchandise."

It is to bring these facts to the attention of the people and the congress of the United States that the National Rivers and Harbors Congress is working. It has had the hearty endorsement of the President before, and the administration's approval will not be lacking at the convention to be held in December.

Of Interest To Women. To such women as are seriously out of health, but who have exacting duties to perform, either in the way of household cares or in social duties and functions, which seriously tax their strength, as well as nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proved a most valuable supporting tonic and invigorating nerve. It is timely use, much serious sickness and suffering may be avoided. The operating table and the surgeon's knife would be unnecessary. A woman who is employed in her most valuable work, and who is unable to do so in great time, "The Favorite Prescription" has proven a great boon to expectant mothers by preparing the system for the coming of baby, thereby rendering childbirth safe, easy, and almost painless.

Bear in mind, please that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse, because of the uncertainty as to their composition and harmless character, but is a genuine or known composition, a full list of all its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. In this connection it may be noted of place to state that the "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is the only medicine put up for the cure of a woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, and sold through druggists, all the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that for its purity and its safety for the mother and child, it is the only medicine for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of these endorsements will be sent to any address, post-paid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card or letter, or Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Hurd with difficulty suppressed a start. Stowley was the place where the all important brooch had been pawned by a nautical man, and here was the man in question. "I should have thought you'd lived near the sea," he said cautiously, "say Southampton."

"Oh, I used to go there for my ship," said the captain, draining his glass, "but I don't go there no more."

"Retired, eh?"

Jessop nodded and looked at his friend as he considered Hurd when the invitation to dinner—with a blood-shot pair of eyes. "Come storm, come calm," he growled, "I've sailed the ocean for forty years. Yes, sir, you bet. I was a ship of a fifteen cabin boy on my first cruise, and then I got on to being skipper. Lord, Jessop snatched his knee, 'the things I've seen!'"

"We'll have them tonight after dinner," said Hurd, nodding, "but now, I suppose you're made your fortune."

"No," said the captain gloomily, "not what you'd call money. I've got a steady, though, and no winked."

"Ah! Married to a rich wife?"

"Not me. I've had enough of marriage, having been the skipper of a merchant with a tongue. No, sir, he roared out another line of some song floating in his mazy head, "a sailor's bachelor am I," then changed to gruff talk, "and I intend being one all my days. Standby I have—'twint' a wife, but I can draw the money regular and no questions asked." Again he winked and drank another glass.

Hurd reflected that perhaps Jessop had killed Aaron Norman for Mrs. Krell, and she was paying him blood money. But he did not dare to press the question. He therefore proposed an adjournment to the sitting room. Jessop agreed quite unsuspectingly, not guessing he was being trapped. The man was so large and muscular that Hurd felt behind his waist to see that his revolver was loose and could be used should occasion arise.

Miss Junk brought in the dinner with her own fair hands, and explained that Hurd had made the cure, but she didn't think it was as good as usual. "The man's shakin' like a jelly," said Matilda. "I don't know why."

The detective nodded, but did not encourage conversation. He was quite sure that Hurd was being watched by the smooth faced policeman and could not get away. Besides he wished to talk to Captain Jessop. Miss Junk, seeing that she was not needed, retreated after bringing in the curry and left the gentleman to help themselves. So here was Hurd in a pleasant room, seated before a well spread table and with a roaring fire at his back, waiting for his opportunity to make Captain Jessop confess his share in the dual murders of Lady Rachel Sandal and Aaron Norman.

The detective nodded, but did not encourage conversation. He was quite sure that Hurd was being watched by the smooth faced policeman and could not get away. Besides he wished to talk to Captain Jessop. Miss Junk, seeing that she was not needed, retreated after bringing in the curry and left the gentleman to help themselves. So here was Hurd in a pleasant room, seated before a well spread table and with a roaring fire at his back, waiting for his opportunity to make Captain Jessop confess his share in the dual murders of Lady Rachel Sandal and Aaron Norman.

consideration that has been denied it in the past. The only invitation of Henry Watterson that Mr. Bryan withdrew in favor of the "Kentucky" "dark horse" who turned out to be Governor Johnson of Minnesota, the graying fawn with which Judge Gray, of Delaware, is regarded, the enthusiasm with which the boom of Lieutenant Governor Chandler of New York has been received—all these signs of the times are said to have made a deep impression on Mr. Bryan, who, when all is said and done, is an ardent politician whose finger notes the most subtle flutter of the public pulse. The feeling in the South has reached the proportions of almost open revolt. Only this week Lieutenant Governor J. Taylor Elliott, of Virginia, who is also chairman of the Democratic Central Committee of his state and has been prominent in national democratic councils for years, came out flatly for Senator Daniel for the nomination for president in 1908. The statement was made here in Washington, and is interpreted to mean that the Virginia delegation will be solidly for Daniel as against Bryan.

Altogether, the Bryan speech before the George Washington University students next month is likely to mark an epoch in political history. It certainly will have a decided effect on the next campaign, and it is being eagerly looked forward to.

Still another Nebraskan is to make an important speech this month before the students of the George Washington University. The address will be delivered on the occasion of the Fall Convocation by Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews, president of the University of Nebraska, who has chosen as his subject "The United States as a Pacific Ocean Power." It is expected that the noted educator will voice the sentiment of the people of the Middle West on the transfer of the entire naval lifting force from Atlantic to Pacific waters.

Marquette Academy, Milwaukee, is anxious to have a game with the local team and it is probable that later in the season one can be arranged. Two dates are still open and negotiations are now pending.

Exercises in the exposition auditorium, a big military review and a reception at the New York building were the leading features of the day's program.

EXTRAORDINARY STOVE VALUES

We mean we will give you greater value, dollar for dollar, in Stoves than you can obtain elsewhere, whether you buy here at home or from an outside mail order concern.

The magnitude of our Stove Sales this year is the best proof of the truth of this assertion.

Now if you need a Stove, Base Burner, Range or Parmaee, all we ask is for you to call during this great Anniversary Sale, look over the largest Stove Stock in southern Wisconsin, learn our prices, have the difference between, Garland, Jewel, Quick-Meal and Hot Blast Stoves—the Stoves of national reputation—and cheap, ordinary ones explained, and we will be satisfied that you will decide our Stoves are the cheapest and best to buy too, because they are made to last, save fuel and give satisfaction.

If you buy a Stove that does not embody these qualifications, you will find it the most expensive investment you ever made regardless of what it may cost you.

Save pennies in cost and lose dollars in wasted fuel, repair bills, unsatisfactory service, and short life is the result of buying a poor Stove, because no other article of household use is subjected to such ravishing elements as fire, no article requires such staunch, durable construction to give satisfaction.

Why This Market Is Busy
